

Asian private equity and international arbitration: key current issues

June 24, 2022 | Articles & Books

Davis Polk partner Martin Rogers, counsel Jonathan Chang and associate Clement Sung authored the Asian private equity and international arbitration chapter in The Asia-Pacific Arbitration Review 2023. In the wake of a sustained increase in the volume of private equity investments in Asia and turbulent economic times, we explore key issues that investors should consider when structuring their investments and choosing the seat of arbitration in their agreements.

Read the full article