

How Trump admin Treasury policies are reaching banks

July 7, 2025 | Articles & Books

Davis Polk partner and White Collar Defense & Investigations practice chair Neil MacBride, AML/CFT head Dan Stipano, partners Paul Marquardt and David Portilla and associate Josh Slifka authored “How Trump admin Treasury policies are reaching banks” in Law360. In the piece, the authors discuss the Treasury Department’s role facilitating the Administration’s domestic and international financial policies, including domestic deregulation and the use of international economic authorities in pursuit of foreign policy and national security goals in cross-border trade and investment.

Read the full article