

President Trump Takes Aim at the International Criminal Court with New Sanctions Order

June 16, 2020 | Client Update | 3-minute read

If you have any questions regarding the matters covered in this publication, please reach out to any of the lawyers listed below or your usual Davis Polk contact.

John B. Reynolds III

+1 202 962 7143

john.reynolds@davispolk.com

Will Schisa

+1 202 962 7129

will.schisa@davispolk.com

This communication, which we believe may be of interest to our clients and friends of the firm, is for general information only. It is not a full analysis of the matters presented and should not be relied upon as legal advice. This may be considered attorney advertising in some jurisdictions. Please refer to the firm's privacy notice for further details.

¹ The term "United States personnel" means any current or former members of the Armed Forces of the United States, any current or former elected or appointed official of the United States Government, and any other person currently or formerly employed by or working on behalf of the United States Government.

- to have directly engaged in any effort by the ICC to investigate, arrest, detain, or prosecute any United States personnel¹ without the consent of the United States;
- to have directly engaged in any effort by the ICC to investigate, arrest, detain, or prosecute any personnel of a country that is an ally of the United States² without the consent of that country's government;
- to have materially assisted, sponsored, or provided financial, material, or technological support for, or goods or services to or in support of, the above activities or any person sanctioned pursuant to the Order; and
- to be owned or controlled by, or to have acted or purported to act for or on behalf of, directly or indirectly, any person sanctioned pursuant to the Order.

² The term "personnel of a country that is an ally of the United States" means any current or former military personnel, current or former elected or appointed official, or other person currently or formerly employed by or working on behalf of a government of a North Atlantic Treaty Organization ("NATO") member country or a major non-NATO ally.

- to have directly engaged in any effort by the ICC to investigate, arrest, detain, or prosecute any United States personnel¹ without the consent of the United States;
- to have directly engaged in any effort by the ICC to investigate, arrest, detain, or prosecute any personnel of a country that is an ally of the United States² without the consent of that country's government;
- to have materially assisted, sponsored, or provided financial, material, or technological support for, or goods or services to or in support of, the above activities or any person sanctioned pursuant to the Order; and
- to be owned or controlled by, or to have acted or purported to act for or on behalf of, directly or indirectly, any person sanctioned pursuant to the Order.