

Encouraging Innovation: Brokered Deposits—What Fintechs Need to Know to Partner with Banks under the FDIC’s Proposed Regulations

January 16, 2020 | Client Update

In a step forward for the digital transformation of banking and partnerships between banks and fintechs, the FDIC released proposed changes to its brokered deposit regulations in December 2019. The proposed changes are designed to update the regulatory framework as much as possible within the constraints of the existing statute, Section 29 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act. This visual memorandum provides an overview of the parts of the proposal that would widen opportunities for banks, fintechs and others in the digital transformation.
