

Practice Notes: Hong Kong virtual asset laws and regulations

June 3, 2026 | Articles & Books

Davis Polk partner Martin Rogers, associate Lok Cheung and registered foreign lawyer Sophie Ng contributed three articles on virtual asset laws and regulations in Hong Kong to LexisNexis' Practical Guidance Journal.

The articles provide an overview of arbitrating cryptocurrency disputes in Hong Kong, a comparison of stablecoin laws in Hong Kong and the United States, and the regulation of event contracts in Hong Kong.

Davis Polk's market-leading FinTech and virtual asset team in Hong Kong has deep experience working with multiple licensed virtual asset trading platforms, brokers, custodian, market makers and token issuers.

Davis Polk contributed articles

Arbitrating cryptocurrency disputes in Hong Kong

Comparison of HK and US stablecoin laws (subscription required)

Regulation of event contracts in Hong Kong (subscription required)