

Financial Regulation: Law and Policy

July 15, 2016 | Articles & Books

This textbook aims to completely revamp the law school curriculum for financial regulation and policy by teaching students the basics of regulatory framework for all parts of the financial sector as it exists today in the post-Financial Crisis world.

Authors: Margaret Tahyar, Michael Barr (University of Michigan Law School) and Howell Jackson (Harvard Law School).

Read the First Chapter>

For more information and additional teaching materials, visit the companion site>