

Cryptocurrency and Other Digital Assets for Asset Managers

October 29, 2019 | Articles & Books

In this chapter for Global Legal Insights - Blockchain & Cryptocurrency Regulation 2020, Davis Polk partner Gregory Rowland and associate Trevor Kiviat examine Bitcoin and countless other open-source, decentralized protocols inspired by Bitcoin (for example, Ethereum and Monero) that have come to represent a $270 billion-plus market of alternative assets. These “digital assets” are typically traded over the internet using online exchange platforms.

Read the full chapter >

Related materials

2019-10-29_cryptocurrency_and_other_digital_assets_for_asset_managers.pdf