

SEC and FINRA Staffs Highlight Broker-Dealer Regulatory Challenges Raised by Digital Assets—And Hint at Solutions

July 12, 2019 | Client Update

Broker-dealer custody of on-blockchain assets has been a key hurdle in the development of a more regulated financial infrastructure for digital assets in the United States. In a joint statement, the staffs of the SEC and FINRA outlined their concerns about broker-dealers' ability to comply with their financial responsibility rules—in particular, the requirement to obtain and maintain physical possession or control of fully-paid and excess margin securities—for business activities involving digital assets that are securities. The statement hints at a possible path forward for broker-dealers who pursue a business model that does not result in a broker-dealer having custody of customer digital assets.
